

GIS SCIENTIST WINS NUS ALUMNI AWARDS 2019

Congratulations to Dr Li Jingmei!

27 November 2019 – Dr Li Jingmei, Senior Research Scientist (Human Genetics), clinched the NUS Outstanding Young Alumni Award for her significant and impactful contribution to breast cancer research. Held biennially by the NUS Office of Alumni Relations, the NUS Alumni Awards recognise alumni who have excelled locally and internationally, and have made significant contributions to the University and society. This year, NUS conferred the Alumni Awards to 21 individuals who have distinguished themselves nationally for their exceptional contributions and achievements.